

WELCOME TO LAKESHORE WRITER'S GROUP

Monday, April 15, 2024 @ 7:00

MEETING OUTLINE

As you know, we're nearing the end of our writer's for this "year". We will have a bonus meeting in May. Hopefully you will be able to attend both! For those who were not in attendance in March, I encourage you to look up Gayle B. Pool on Amazon and check out her collection of novels and writing-based self-help books. She is a very interesting and encouraging person who likes to share her story and her knowledge. We appreciated her giving of her time to speak to us.

In case you haven't heard...an Eclipse is coming to an Ohio town near us... I trust you are "prepared". I'd like to remind the multitudes and the writer's group to WEAR YOUR EYE PROTECTION!

- ◆ Warm-up Exercise and Read Back:

As always, to be announced.

- ◆ Just for Fun Homework:

...to be done in preparation for our April meeting.

In the spirit of the upcoming Eclipse, write approx. 130 words describing something in nature that truly moves you. It can even be about this eclipse or one that you have witnessed. Think and write about a place, a sound, a smell... that has impacted you in some way. Just make sure it is something in or about nature. Hint: You don't have to wear your eye protection to write this one.

- ◆ Topic Thought:

I invite you to think of a topic you would like us to discuss. It can be anything from ~~your first car~~, I mean, your memoir, or any writing subject we can learn more about or compare notes on, etc.

- ◆ Trivia (?)

"The beautiful part of writing is that you don't have to get it right the first time, like, say, a brain surgeon. -Robert Cormier

NEXT MEETING WILL BE MONDAY, MAY 20th, 2024 at 7:00pm
