MEETING OUTLINE

The news is buzzing today! I think I need a nap... We have a short list of items outside of our usual group activities that I'd like to touch on. The big thing is preparing to create our next Portfolio! I hope you are excited about it as I am. As we come into the holiday season I would be amiss if I didn't wish you all a peaceful Thanksgiving surrounded by the people you love.

◆ Warm-up Exercise and Read Back:

As you are aware, we have a little different twist on the Warm-up segment of our meeting. I have turned over the prompt assigning task to you guys. (I can feel the excitement in the air). Sara is the one who came up with a prompt for us last month. She, as per the new system, has chosen Julie to give us the warm-up prompt for November! So...Julie, should you accept your assignment, would you do the honor of drafting a prompt for November's Warm-up? I thank you in advance...

◆ Just for Fun Homework:

In your own style of writing, and using a topic of your choice, write a paragraph or two approximately 130 words in length. Let's see how this goes. It might turn into a "thing". Not.

◆ Topic Thought:

We should probably spend a little time here discussing the Portfolio. Among things we can take a look at are: word count limit, time lines, interest in doing it (we had 11 writers involved in 2022), etc. If you have suggestions or questions, please bring them. Gerry and Max, please consider contributing something! You are more than welcome to share in the fame!

◆ Trivia: ??

"I can't write 5 words but that I change 7."
